Personal Profile

Aspiring front-end web developer, seeking a career change.

I am a reliable, ambitious professional individual who is highly motivated and demonstrates drive and enthusiasm in any task that is undertaken. I am patient, adaptable, and persistent with an analytical mind. I have strong communication skills, can readily take instruction and strive to meet deadlines & targets while working under pressure. I am an excellent team player, thrive when helping others, and also perform well on my own initiative. I have skills and experience using GitHub including branches, pull requests, merging and team collaboration. I am currently studying part time, evenings (finish March 2024) and am looking for work in a front-end web development role, including junior, entry level, trainee and apprenticeship positions.
